Series: The purpose of this series is to make available those catalogues that have lasting interest through their text or their illustrations. Catalogues and cumulations of titles in the series are available from the publishers.

Serial numbers: Each title is identified by a three-part serial number. The first part of the serial number designates the sales list in which the title was first announced. The second part indicates the agent of publication, i.e. the museum, gallery or organisation that was responsible for the publication of the catalogue. The third part of the serial number is the number allotted to that title.

Copyright, microfiche edition: Crown copyright. Reproduced by permission of the Controller of Her Majesty's Stationery Office. The year of publication of the original to which this copyright refers is given on the title strip. No part of the publication reproduced on this microfiche may be reproduced in any form without permission from Her Majesty's Stationery Office and Chadwyck-Healey Ltd.

PREFACE

THE English Ceramic Circle, formerly the English Porcelain Circle, owes its origin to a meeting held at 10 St. Alban's Road, Kensington, W.8 (the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacAlister), in February, 1927. It was decided to form a Circle, of limited membership, with the object of increasing the knowledge of early English porcelain by communications and discussions at meetings of its members.

Under its first President, Mrs. Radford, the project was successfully launched; meetings were regularly held, and the papers read at the meetings were published in the Circle's Transactions. To Mr. Wallace Elliot, who succeeded Mrs. Radford in 1930, the Circle owed much of its subsequent success. During his presidency the scope of the Circle was enlarged to include the discussion and study of English earthenware and stoneware. Accordingly in May, 1931, its title was changed to THE ENGLISH CERAMIC CIRCLE (incorporating the English Porcelain Circle).

After Mr. Elliot's death in January, 1938 (when a large portion of his valuable collection was bequeathed to the British and Victoria and Albert Museums), the affairs of the Circle were directed by Mr. Bernard Rackham. His scholarship and wide experience of many years, as Keeper of the Department of Ceramics, in the Victoria and Albert Museum, have been of inestimable value to the Circle. Mr. Rackham held the presidency for nearly nine years, until the Autumn of 1946, when I succeeded him on his retirement from the Chair.

The Circle has had a continuous existence for twenty-one years. Our meetings continued to be held throughout the anxious years of the war, and our Transactions containing the result of much original research are now widely read. Important discoveries have been made, and new theories advanced, as a result of the Circle's activities. It would be invidious to mention names of contributors, but the researches of the late Dr. Bellamy Gardner, an authority on early Chelsea porcelain, one of the founders of the Circle, and for many years a Vice-President, should not be omitted. The Circle has been fortunate also in the support given by officers of the various English national and public museums. The latest issue of the Transactions, together with other works by members of the Circle, is on sale at the catalogue stall of this Exhibition, with which the Circle celebrates its coming-of-age.

The Exhibition consists entirely of objects in the private collections of members, chosen in the first instance by members themselves. Every member has been urged to contribute, and a wide range of taste and means is represented. The Exhibition is not intended to cover every type impartially; it stands rather for the enthusiams and particular interests of collectors at the present day. The period covered begins with the English delftware, about the middle of the 17th century, and stops short at the revolution brought about by Josiah Wedgwood towards the end of the 18th century.

Our cordial thanks are due to Mr. Leigh Ashton, Director of the Victoria and Albert Museum, for allowing the Exhibition to be held here and for his sympathetic support from the commencement. Mr. W. B. Honey, Keeper of the Department of Ceramics, has rendered invaluable assistance in the selection, arrangement, and cataloguing of the exhibits.

AUBREY J. TOPPIN, President
